Full Source Code: Buy from: Q: How to make the title of a figure that does not have a caption different than the figure name? I'm creating a new figure on LaTeX with TikZ and I have a title and a caption, which I do not wish to be shown in the printed document, but I would like to use the figure name. The name of the figure as shown in the latex file is the same as the name of the pdf figure. The caption also shows the figure name, which I want to avoid. I found this: How to make the title of a figure that does not have a caption different than the figure name? which does not answer my question. MWE: \documentclass{article} \usepackage{tikz} \usetikzlibrary{positioning} \begin{document}

\end{figure} }; \end{tikzpicture} \end{document} I would like to
